

DynCorp International's Phoenix Training Center (PTC)

DynCorp International's (DI) state-of-the-art training facility, the Phoenix Training Center (PTC), located at 1700 Old Meadow Road, McLean, Virginia, is specifically designed to support multiple training courses. The two classrooms in the PTC are equipped to support all types of presentation media to include digital, CD, DVD and Blu-ray formats. The training facility is cleared for instruction up to the SECRET classification level.

The PTC also includes several types of breakout rooms. In order to support team-based training and small group mentorship, a key component of the DI approach to instruction, the training facility includes five team rooms allowing each class to break into teams of four to six students. All team rooms are equipped with classified workstations and printing capabilities.

The training facility includes three interview/debriefing rooms used for all in-house practical exercises. Each interview/debriefing room is equipped with an unclassified digital video recording system, affording staff and students the ability to record all practical exercises for immediate viewing and review.

Additionally, classrooms and monitor rooms are equipped to allow students to observe, in real time, activities occurring in the interview/debriefing rooms. This allows the students and faculty to critique student and role player performance on the spot. The video recording system also supports the use of live demonstrations to reinforce each step in the training process.

Each student's training experience is enhanced by other facility amenities including a student café, internet access and print capable desktop computers. Students are also provided access to break areas that include full kitchen facilities, convenience goods and complimentary refreshments.

Free parking is plentiful at the training facility and the surrounding area is convenient to a variety of hotels and restaurants, major roads, highways and airports.
